using a process approach to writing this book focuses on teaching strategies that will help children to develop and improve their writing skills and their writing products grades k 8

two mistakes of an opposite nature have been made in teaching writing the first is to expect writing to grow up incidentally without giving the child any specific training in the writing act the second is to suppose that teaching writing is some strange mysterious process which can be mastered only by special teachers who have had a large amount of technical training however writing can be taught by the grade teacher and there are strong reasons why it should be so taught writing is an activity which the child performs in much of his her school work besides his writing lesson it is necessary that all the writing be done properly and it is the grade teacher who must see that it is properly done

are you puzzled by pacing according to the ncee standards as well as some state standards it s an essential writing skill but what is pacing and how do you teach it denise leograndis has the answers to those questions and in fluent writing she shares with you how this seemingly new area of instruction offers a breakthrough opportunity to improve your students writing
